Since some of our panelists are officers of public companies, we offer the following disclosure. Please note that any forward-looking statements made by our panelists are made pursuant to the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. You can identify these forward-looking statements by such words as "should," "anticipate," "estimate," "approximate," "expect," "target," "may," "will," "project," "intend," "plan," "believe" and other words of similar meaning and expression. You can also identify forward-looking statements by the fact that they do not relate strictly to historical or current facts. Forward-looking statements are inherently subject to a variety of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those discussed. Although it is not possible to predict or identify all risk factors, they certainly include today's uncertain economic times. We direct you to these public companies' SEC filings for additional risk factors. Our panelists, including our public company officers, cannot, of course, give any assurance that any goal, plan or target discussed today can be achieved; and our audience is cautioned not to place undue reliance on such statements, which speak only as of the time when made. Our panelists and their companies undertake no obligation to release publicly any revisions to forward-looking statements as a result of future events or developments.
